“Historically, long-term supports and services, such as nursing home and home-based care, have not been well integrated with other health care services. This fragmentation of care delivery drives up costs and compromises outcomes for the millions of Americans who depend on long-term services.”

Commonwealth Fund

Activate patients to manage chronic conditions (Care Transitions) and locate resources via ePHR and Network of Care (NoC). Engage MDs/caregivers in virtual teaming/care coordination. Care Transitions participants will receive technical support and coaching to establish a PHR on the NoC, maintain an accurate medication list, grant access to their PHR to formal and informal caregivers, and engage their “team” in supporting them through improved communication and care coordination utilizing the capabilities of the NoC PHR. Educate healthcare providers about the NoC so they can inform chronically ill patients not enrolled in CTI upon discharge about how to locate needed services and resources through the ePHR.
